An Invitation: Buzz by the Grafton County Butterfly Garden pend on pollinating insects

By Janene Robie. Program Assistant, Food and Agriculture

The goal of the UNH Cooperative Extension Master Gardener Program is to train and enable volunteers to use research-based information to educate the public about home gardening and horticulture, pest management. food safety and backyard livestock. This spring, five Grafton County Master Gardeners designed and implemented a butterfly garden at the Grafton County Complex in an effort to educate the public about everyday gardening principles of adding beauty, supporting a healthy ecosystem, and creating and maintaining beneficial native pollinator habitat.

find out! The butterfly garden is active and open for public viewing. Master Gardeners want to share their butterfly garden example with you to spread the knowledge across our county. The garden is located in the gazebo area just off of the main entrance (Licensing) road between the Grafton County Nursing Home (3855 Dartmouth College Hwy) and the Grafton County Court House (3801 Dartmouth College Hwy).

When you visit, you will find a breath-taking and beautiful mixture of pollinator food, cover, and water. Planning the garden involved considering an ideal garden location where the public could enjoy easy access on flat walking surfaces and the ability to observe the garden from a sunny area with some partial shade (the gazebo).

Plant selection for pollinator-preferred colors of white, pink, purple, red, yellow and orange and the inclusion of both host and nectar plants were two additional considerations. The Master Gardener volunteers developed the garden with careful atten-the new butterfly garden and tion to the placement of plants along with a deliberate eastward orientation of a bee nesting box (also known as a pollinator hotel). If the holes are plugged, it's a message to other pollinators that there is no vacancy in that tube!

> Incorporating a flowing water source with an accessible landing location for a variety of insect and bird pollinator species has proven to be crucial to the garden's success. In this first year, Master Gardeners discovered that the water source sound along with its lily pad landing zone were helpful in drawing and retaining a record number of pollinators who prefer moving water near where they feed and rest.

What is next for the pollinator habitat at the Grafton County Complex? Master Gardeners will discuss what they have learned this first year about effects of the wind and sun on their new garden. Next year the volunteers plan to consider the addition of more drought resistant plants

while incorporating more sheltering shrubbery nearby.

Cider House Cafe

by Gary Scruton

It is not rare in this area to find a seasonal eatery. There are plenty of reasons for a number of businesses to take the route of only being open for a portion of the year. We all know about four seasons. But often there are several others that are added in.

The season that the Cider House Cafe chooses to be open is what I will call "Harvest Season". Actually opening in mid June (harvest time for some local veggies) and staying open every day until November 1 (harvest time for pumpkins, squash, apples and more), it matches well with some of the other attractions at Windy Ridge Orchard, home for the Cider House Cafe.

Of course our main objective when going up on the hill was eating. The Cider House is open from 7-11 for breakfast and 11-3 for lunch. The Sunday that we found the time to get there it was already noon before we arrived. So lunch it was to be. Not a problem, there is an interesting list of choices.

The Cider House is not, nor does it pretend to be, a diner or a fine dining establishment. What they offer though is hand made and served in an atmosphere that is hard to beat. The lunch menu is made up of several sandwiches. No burgers and dogs, but homemade breads and wraps that can be served cold or grilled on their panini grill (highly recommended).

I liked the sound of what they call a McIntosh; honey cured ham, cheddar cheese, honey mustard, and toppings to my likings.

Janice focused on the Cider House Club. It is listed as having brown roasted turkey, honey cured ham, country bacon, cheddar cheese, maple mayo and her choice of toppings.

Another note on the menu states that all the vegetables are grown in a greenhouse and in the garden right there on premises.

One more unique aspect at the Cider House Cafe is that they do not have "conventional" waitresses. You actually step up to the counter and place your order and pay the bill. The counter person then hands you a metal card holder that you take with you and place on your table, wherever you choose to sit. This is where some skill comes into play. We saw most people go outside and find a picnic table, a bench, or even the playground area. We simply sat down at one of the inside tables there in the cafe to avoid the nip that was in the air. This also allowed us to see the staff in action as they cheerfully prepared lunches for the many folks that the sunshine had brought out. As the sandwiches were prepared a member of the staff would take the meals and head out to find where the orderer had found a seat. It did not appear to take long as the staff members always seemed to return quickly. Our sandwiches were each served with a pickle and a handful of chips. (No, they do not have french fries or any other deep fried sides). The sandwiches were simply delicious. The ingredients were fresh and well proportioned. The service was fast and friendly. The views from Windy Ridge have always been outstanding. And for those looking for more than just a meal there are play areas, the apple orchard, walking trails, mini trains rides for the kids and even some hay bale art.

I should mention also that after we finished lunch I went back to the counter to get some of their fresh made donuts to take home.

With my three donuts the total cost was about $24.00, and no tip was needed. Note as well that cash and checks are fine at the Cider House Cafe, but plastic won't get you a meal.

Two-time Grammy-winner Sarah Jarosz to Open 9th KCP Presents Season

The Northeast Kingdom's popular KCP Presents Performance Series will kick off its highly anticipated ninth season on Thursday, September 14, with a concert by two-time Grammy winner Sarah Jarosz. The special concert, in addition to opening the 2017-18 KCP Presents season, will celebrate the 150th anniversary of Lyndon Institute, a valuable partner in the KCP Presents series.

Jarosz, a Texas singer-songwriter versatile on clawhammer banjo, mandolin, and guitar, has earned comparisons to Joni Mitchell, Emmylou Harris, Beth Orton, and early Simon & Garfunkel. Nevertheless, the recent winner of the 2017 Grammy Awards for Best Folk Album and Best American Roots Performance is a fiercely original talent, paving her own way in the bluegrass folk scene.

"She refuses to dilute raw sentiments with gloss or misdirection," says The Wall Street Journal. "Her songs are direct, unadorned, and thoroughly beautiful." Blending folk, bluegrass, country, and Americana influences, Jarosz's songs employ an understated elegance, technical proficiency, and frank vulnerability that evoke a sense of knowing intimacy.

"For Austinites who have followed her since her early teens," writes The Austin Chronicle's Jim Caligiuri, "the fact that Sarah Jarosz blossomed into one of the most stirring musicians of her generation comes as absolutely no surprise." Prairie Home Companion host Chris Thile introduced her as, "the silver-voiced, silver-fingered, silver-penned Sarah Jarosz."

The sizzling hot Nashville duo, 10 String Symphony, will open for Jarosz at the September 14 concert. Seasoned fiddlers Rachel Baiman and Christian Sedelmyer combine classical violin training, traditional fiddle runs, yearning harmonies, and rock sensibility to create a dynamic, biting sound that gets right under your skin and promises to prime the audience for Sarah Jarosz's electrifying performance.

Jarosz is an obvious and fitting choice for the KCP Presents season opener. The leadoff spot in the KCP Presents line-up is generally reserved for up-and-coming country music talent, such as last year's opening act, Sierra Hull. The series includes a diverse selection of musical acts as well as dance performances and live theater. This year's season includes Aquila Theatre's Sense and Sensibility, Natalie Master and Donnell Leahy, the Choir of Clare College, Hot Sardines, Ballet Jazz of Montreal, Dublin Irish Dancers, Apollo's Fire Bach's Coffeehouse, and the Jennifer Hartswick Band.

The season opens with Sarah Jarosz and 10 String Symphony on Thursday, September 14, at 7pm at

To Veto or Not to Veto

In accordance with how a bill becomes a law, the governor of any state has the authority to veto a proposed bill that has been passed by both the house and senate. A governor's veto will be upheld if the legislature is unable to override the veto by a 2/3's vote. This provision is written in state constitutions as a final check before the governor signs any proposed legislation into law.

NH Governor Sununu has vetoed one house bill this year. HB 86, an act relative to granting zoning ordinance variances attempts to change the process in which a zoning board votes to approve or disapprove a variance appeal. Community zoning regulations define how property in specific areas of a town or city can be used. Zoning ordinances identify whether zones can be used for residential or commercial purposes, and may also regulate lot size, where structures may be placed on property, height of structures, and more.

In his veto message, the Governor wrote, "Current law allows zoning boards to take one vote that covers all five criteria for granting a variance, a streamlined procedure which many boards have chosen to do." The five criteria or conditions a board is required to base their decision include: (a.) no diminution (reduction) in value of surrounding properties would be suffered, (b.) Granting the permit would be of benefit to the public interest, (c.) Denial of the permit would result in unnecessary hardship to the owner seeking the variance, (d.) by granting the permit substantial justice would be done, and (e.) the use must not be contrary to the spirit of the ordinance.

The Governor further stated, "House Bill 86 would remove this option (having one vote) and require that every zoning board in the state take separate votes on each of the five criteria. Such a mandate needlessly imposes on local control, and is inconsistent with my commitment to remove excess regulation and streamline development and economic growth. If a community wishes to require its zoning board to take a separate vote on each of the five variance criteria, that community may do so by including that requirement in its own zoning - DRIVEWAYS - SEPTIC SY - FOUNDATION REPAIR - PONDS - HORSE A the full House from the Municipal and County Committee. The bill was supported by all members on that committee and received a 15-0 vote for passage. It was placed on the House Consent Calendar and acted upon along with 35 other bills in one voice vote. When approving a consent calendar, representatives can pull any bill and have it placed on the regular agenda for further discussion. On this particular session day, three bills were removed, but HB 86 was not. In the case of HB 86, I believe the writers of our constitution and the current Governor got this one right...a good catch. When a bill is submitted to the House from a committee with a bipartisan, unanimous vote of 15-0, it is highly unlikely to see the recommendation changed. Reversing a committee vote that also received input from the public through the hearing process seldom occurs.

HB 86 is proof that a governor's veto is very important, and now we will encounter the last step of how a bill becomes law when the House reconvenes this year. Will the Governor's veto withstand the 2/3's vote to override his decision? Time will tell.

Respectfully Submitted, NH Rep Rick Ladd

About 75% of all flowering plants need animals to move pollen grains from plant to plant for fertilization. One in every three bites of food we eat is delivered to us by pollinators. Want to encourage native pollinators to thrive in your garden or orchard? We can help you begin planning a pollinator planting.

The Grafton County Conservation District (GCCD) Tour of Pollinator Practices will look at several established projects, and discuss planning, planting and managing for pollinators. GCCD, participating owners and partner agencies to learn firsthand conservation practices that attract beneficial insects. Eric Venturini, Farm Bill Pollinator Conservationist and NRCS Partner Biologist with the Xerces Society, will join us to visit several sites in the Upper Valley. Our Tour starts on Friday, September 15, 2017 at 9:30AM at Poverty Lane Orchard, 98 Poverty Lane, Lebanon NH. We will caravan in personal vehicles from site to site, car-pooling is encouraged. The Tour will be held rain or shine, so dress for variable weather, and plan on light hiking at each stop. Call Pam at (603) 353-4652 if you plan to attend. Feel free to join us along the way. to foster habitat for beneficial insects to help control crop pests and reduce the need for pesticides while producing a range of edible apple varieties and traditional hard cider apples. Wildflower meadows for native bees were established more than five years ago. We will have an opportunity to discuss management strategies for established wildflower meadows, such as disturbance and/or fall over seeding.

Our second site visit will be Haves Farm Park, Etna Library, 130 Etna Road, Etna starting at 10:30AM, with parking behind Etna Fire Station. Do not block fire truck access. The Hanover Conservancy established the King Bird Sanctuary at the Hayes Farm Park in 2011. Our final site visit will begin at 11:30AM at the Jim and Deb Kennedy residence, 494 Hanover Center Road, Etna to look at established pollinator plantings. Jim used repeated shallow cultivation each month for four months to kill the existing grasses. Jim has established three pollinator plantings next to warm season grasses. The site also has thyme and oregano, annual buckwheat and sunflowers, along with no-till seeded clover cover crop.

The Montpelier & Wells River Railroad Presentation

The Newbury Historical Society invites the public to take a virtual train ride at it's presentation on the Montpelier & Wells River Railroad on September 10th at the Wells River Congregational UCC Church at 76 Main Street North at 2:00pm.

Some people in the greater Wells River area will remember the Montpelier-Wells River Railroad, the short line railroad that carried passengers, US Mail, feed grains, milk, and granite to name just a few items between Montpelier and Wells River between the 1870s until the middle of the last century. If you arrived in the area after 1956 you didn't have to opportunity to ride the train, but you may have traveled a portion of the route using the Cross Vermont Trail that uses portions of the old rail bed beginning in Wells River to Montpelier before going on to Burlington.

Norwich resident Irv Thomae will be the guest speaker. He has been collecting maps, photos, artifacts, and especially oral histories of the Montpelier-Wells River line from former employees, customers, and neighbors of the railroad since the 1960s.

The 38-mile line ran from Wells River through Boltonville, South Ryegate, Groton, Groton State Forest, Marshfield, Plainfield, and East Montpelier to Montpelier. It tied those communities together and to the world beyond, carrying passengers, US Mail, and local commodities. Vermonters of that era were renowned for self-sufficiency, which was mostly true, but the necessary exceptions were made possible by short-line, hometown railroads like the M&WR. The M&WR and the towns it served sustained each other for many decades, and as the presentation will show, the story of the M&WR is a microcosm of small-town life in pre-Interstate Vermont.

Thomae has been a Norwich resident since 1975, and is a long-time member of the Ryegate Historical Society. He retired from Dartmouth College in 2006.

"Family, Memory, Place: Writing Family Stories"

BATH - Bath Public Library has received a grant from New Hampshire Humanities to present Martha Donovan and Maura MacNeil, "Family, Memory, Place: Writing Family Stories" on Saturday, September 23rd at 2:00 pm at the Bath Public Library.

What family stories do you carry with you? What story do you tell over and over? What landscape do you cherish the most? One of the deepest human instincts is to tell our life stories, to figure out who we are and what it means to be human. This interactive workshop led by Martha Andrews Donovan and Maura Mac-Neil explores how the landscapes of our lives shape the stories that we tell. Participants explore the themes of family, memory, and place through sample narratives and a series of short writing exercises, gaining a deeper awareness of how their stories can preserve personal, generational, and communal history. This program is a two-person presentation.

This program is free and open to the public. There will be light refreshments served. New Hampshire Humanities nurtures the joy of learning and inspires engagement community by bringing life-enhancing ideas and subjects from the Humanities to the people of New Hampshire.

The Bath Public Library is located at 30 Lisbon Road, Bath, NH 03740 (beside the church). For more information, contact the Bath Public Library at 747-3372 or e-mail bathlibrarykjb@gmail.com

New England Lighthouses and the People Who Kept Them

The Joseph Patch Library in Warren is pleased to host author and historian Jeremy D'Entremont on Saturday, September 16th at 1:00 p.m. for a presentation entitled, "New England Lighthouses and the People Who Kept Them."

Jeremy will focus on the colorful and dramatic stories of lighthouse keepers and their families as well as discussing the vital role lighthouses played in our maritime culture. Historic and picturesque, lighthouses have broad appeal, but their role is often little appreciat-

Jeremy D'Entremont has written more than a dozen books and 300 articles on lighthouse history and other maritime topics. He is the official historian of the American Lighthouse Foundation, has lectured from Maine to California, is the founder of Friends of Portsmouth Harbor Lighthouses, and edits a website at www.newenglandlighthouses.net.

Mark you calendars and plan to attend. This program is made possible by the NH Humanities Council and is free and open to the public. Light refreshments will be served. For more information, contact the Joseph Patch Library at 764-9072.

Gypsies Swing Through The Colonial

With the support of Bishops Ice Cream and Jim & Carrie Hamblin, The Colonial will present Occidental Gypsy, Saturday, September 9. Hailing from New England, Occidental Gypsy plays a dynamic, multi-genre mix of original vocal and instrumental pieces. They are a nationally touring acoustic act championed by critics and fans. "OG" has played to packed houses at the legendary Nighttown in Cleveland, Green Mill in Chicago, Jazz Kitchen in Indianapolis, and World Cafe Live, and shared the stage with greats like Rikki Lee Jones, and David Bromberg, who commented, "These guys have great singing, fantastic quitar and violin work, and high energy originals that leave the crowd crazv. An awesome band."

Occidental Gypsy's sound is widely appealing, and their shows consistently attract enthusiastic audiences at colleges, arts centers, festivals, concert halls and clubs. Occidental Gyp- gland.

and clubs. Occidental Gypsy's music cannot be easily classified; a bit of jazz, a catchy strain of blues, a seismic swing experience, and "a whole lotta' gypsified groove..."

Opening the evening will be special guest Miss Maybell and Slimpickin's, a musical duo playing American Roots, Jazz, Blues, Country, and Ragtime as well as original tunes. They have been featured on The Cold River Radio Show, and air radio stations throughout New En-

General Admission tickets for the 8 PM performance are $17; Colonial, Catamount Arts and St. Kieran's Community Center for the Arts members $14, reserved front & center seats are $22 (available on line only). A New Season Starts at Court Street Arts!

Court Street Arts is celebrating an exciting Fall season with events for all tastes. Opening the season is a special performance by renowned Tenor Anthony Kearns of the PBS sensation, The Irish Tenors, on September 16th at 7pm. Kearns, one of the finest voices today enjoys a robust international solo career, performing with symphonies and operas across the globe. He has had the honor to sing for three U.S. Presidents, the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and Pope Francis.

Prior to the concert, Court Street Arts will be hosting a tapas dinner with cocktails at the former 1805 Grafton Hotel across the street from the concert hall.

The series will follow with a performance with the legendary Betty Johnson Gray on September 24th at 4pm. Joining her on stage is her daughter Lydia Gray and master fiddler Patrick Ross in a concert to benefit the Vermont-based nonprofit Help Kids India that supports educational efforts in Southern India.

For classical music lovers, the renowned musicians from North Country Chamber Players will take the stage on October 8th at 4pm and Camerata New England on November 5th at 2pm. Lula Wiles a powerful folk trio will perform on October 20th at 7pm and back by popular demand Le Vent du Nord will be back in Haverhill on November 3rd at 7:30pm. Later in the season, Patrick Ross with his new project Atlas Key will get the crowd dancing on December 2nd at 7pm.

For those wanting to get creative this season, artist Ed Kadnuc will be leading Painting in Watercolors on Mondays from 5:30 - 7:30pm and Brushes & Brews on September 9th, an evening of fun of sipping craft beverages and finishing a painting from start to finish.

Celebrating food music, Court Street Arts will be holding a Fall Harvest Brunch featuring locally sources fare, music and a benefit silent auction on November 12 from 11 - 2pm.

Beautification Efforts in Haverhill

For most of 2017 there has been a group of people who have set forth to improve the "curb appeal" of Woodsville. This group was first called together by Haverhill Town Manager Jo Lacaillade who has continued to chair the group at their monthly meetings. But she is not the only person heavily involved. Liz Shelton, owner of The Party Store located in the former Railroad Station Building on Central Street in Woodsville, has also jumped in with both feet and worked tirelessly to raise the money needed to make the proposed projects financially available. Of course many others have attended these meetings either on a regular, or on an occasional basis and their time and input has been most helpful to move projects along. Every person who contributes in any way helps to make the job easier for all the others involved.

The most obvious project to date has been the addition of hanging baskets of flowers along Central Street and a few side streets. There were two initial expenses for this project. One was the one time purchase of the hangers that were connected to the light poles by the Woodsville Water & Light Department. The other initial expense was the flowers themselves. A third expense has been the continued watering and feeding of these beautiful additions to the streets. There are plans to changeover to more hardy plants as summer ends, and then another change to greenery and bows as winter descends upon the area.

Another project that may be less obvious to the majority of people, but very important to many, is the installation of dog droppings stations along a favorite walkway adjacent to Central Street. It seems that many that walk their animals in this area have been using these stations making the walkway more enjoyable for all.

There has also been the creation of "pop-up" art displays in some of the vacant store front windows on Central Street.

Several other projects are currently being discussed by this group. Those include the reuse of the timbers from the soon to be replaced Mill Street Bridge (June 2018). Also on the table is the creation of better entrances to, and more use of, Railroad Park in Woodsville. Two more hoped for projects include the creation of a walking history trail in Woodsville. This would include signage in several areas along Central Street showing, and telling, those who stop about how each area was used in railroad days. This would include existing as well as long gone buildings. Along that same track would possibly be granite benches. There is hope that those benches will be sponsored by local businesses, or in honor of loved ones.

One more important decision of this group has been a change in focus to include all of Haverhill in this ongoing beautification project. Already some of the ideas are being looked at for implementation during 2018 in other sections of town.

This group continues to meet on the third Tuesday of each month at 2:00 PM in the community room at Woodsville Guaranty Savings Bank on Central Street in Woodsville. All interested members of the public are invited to attend. You can also send your ideas or monetary donations earmarked for beautification projects only to the Town of Haverhill - beautification project at the town offices.

KWO Notes From Recent Board Meeting

Members of the Keep Woodsville Open (KWO) coalition attended the August 14th Haverhill Cooperative School Board meeting prepared to listen and advocate for Woodsville students.

As has been reported, Black River Design, an architect company from Montpelier, VT presented a revised budget detailing the cost for each line item.

School Board members discussed items they believed were unnecessary, and consulted with Bert Vines, Director of Facilities regarding repairs that are currently in the works or being addressed within this year's budget that also appeared on the Black River's Design list. They agreed to take a closer look at the repair and upgrade items and their associated costs so the community can afford the expense.

KWO supports the School Board's efforts to take a hard look at what is needed. We are hopeful that the School Board will present a total cost that addresses our student's needs and that our community can afford.

The School Board reported they still feel the need to report the costs associated with tuitioning our students to Oxbow, VT. While this may be a judicious approach, the long term effects of closing a vibrant school with more than 200 students will have a negative effect on our communities.

"We are pleased the School Board has taken a more focused approach to renovations and repairs. KWO will continue to be active and assure that Woodsville students have a voice, and remain committed to bringing the voters accurate and factual information pertaining to the repairs and upgrades needed at WHS," said Dylan Farr, of the Keep Woodsville Open coalition.

KWO wants your opinion on this important issue. Please go to www.keepwoodsvilleopen.com and participate in our opinion poll.

This "Now and Then" is going to be a bit different in definition. On the left is a picture of a cell still in the South Court Street Court House. I grew up in the house directly across from the Court House and my Grandfather was Chief of Police "Ted" Hobbs. When cold evenings started to set in hobos would need a place to sleep warmer than at Hobos Den. Pa would arrive for supper at the six o'clock event night (7 days a week!). Part way thru supper we would hear a slight ring on the door bell. No one even made a move of recognition, as we knew it was a hobo seeking a warm place. After supper was over ... Pa would nod to me and I would go across the street where a hobo would be leanin" against the cellar door casing. I would lock them into a cell)picture on left). In the morning Gram would make hot coffee and freshly made biscuits which I would take to them and unlock the door. After breakfast they would go on their merry way, never bothering a single sole! Not like today with the presence of thieves and drug dealers infesting our serene community. The new facility on Horse Meadow is great. Let's start filling it up with the infestation of malcontents we now have to endure!

Diversify Your Investments But Consolidate Your Providers

You have probably heard that diversification is a key to investment success. So, you might think that if diversifying your investments is a good idea, it might also be wise to diversify your investment providers – after all, aren't two (or more) heads better than one?

Before we look at that issue, let's consider the first half of the "diversification" question – namely, how does diversifying your investment portfolio help you?

Consider the two broadest categories of investments: stocks and bonds. Stock prices will move up and down in response to many different factors, including good or bad corporate earnings, corporate management issues, political developments and even natural disasters. Bond prices are not immune to these dynamics, but they are usually more strongly driven by changes in interest rates. To illustrate: If your existing bond pays 2 percent interest, and new bonds are being issued at 3 percent, the value of your bond will fall, because no one will pay you full price for it. (Of course, it may not matter to you anyway, especially if you planned to hold your bond until maturity, at which point you can expect to get your full investment back, providing the bond issuer doesn't default.)

Here's the key point: Stocks and bonds often move in different directions. If you only own U.S. stocks, you could take a big hit during a market downturn, but if you own domestic and international stocks, bonds, government securities, certificates of deposit and other types of investments, your portfolio may be better protected against market volatility. and you'll have more opportunities for positive results. (Keep in mind, though, that even a diversified portfolio can't prevent all losses or guarantee profits.)

So, it clearly is a good idea to diversify your investment portfolio. Now, let's move on to diversifying financial service providers. Why shouldn't you have one IRA here and another one there, or enlist one advisor to help you with some types of investments and a different advisor assisting you with others?

Actually, some good reasons exist to consider consolidating all your investment accounts with one provider. For one thing, you'll keep better track of your assets. Many people do misplace or forget about some of their savings and investments, but this will be far less likely to happen to you if you hold all your accounts in one place.

Also, if you have accounts with several different financial service providers, you might be incurring a lot of paperwork – and many fees. You can cut down on clutter and expense by consolidating your accounts.

But most important, by placing all your accounts with a single provider, possibly under the supervision of a single financial advisor, you will find it much easier to follow a single, unified investment strategy, based on your goals, risk tolerance and time horizon. You won't get conflicting advice and you'll receive clear guidance on important issues, such as the amounts you can afford to withdraw each year from your retirement accounts once you do retire.

Diversification and consolidation – one is good for building an investment portfolio, while the other can help you invest more efficiently and effectively. Put the two concepts together, and make them work for you.

My Farmers Market...A Done Deal

By Marianne L. Kelly

So. Ryegate, VT—After much negotiating and anticipation, on October 7, My Farmers Market is slated to move to its new location, in the former Browns Market Bistro, on Main Street in Groton.

The larger premises boasts a commercial kitchen that will be available for rent to farms wishing to prepare and sell their value added products in retail markets. It will also be available for rent at an hourly fee for others wishing to start a food related business or sell their food in retail markets. All state rules and regulations must

Elizabeth R. (Becky) Dunn Minickiello - Obituary

R. (Becky) Dunn Minickiello - 60 of Plymouth, NH, died on July 14, 2017 at Speare Memorial Hospital, surrounded in love by her family and friends, after a two year courageous battle with cancer.

Becky was born and raised in Plymouth, New Hampshire, the daughter of Robert G. and Virginia Vineyard Dunn. She was the fourth of six children. She received her schooling throughout the Plymouth School System and graduated from Plymouth Regional High School in June of 1974.

In September of 1974 Becky enlisted in the United States Navy. She went to Basic training in Pensacola, Florida in January of Upon her completion of Basic, she attended Crypto School in Panama City, Florida and graduated a CTT2 - Cryptologic Technician in National Security. She obtained a top-secret /crvptographic clearance and an upgrade to a GS-04 after full field back ground investigation. In August of 1975 she was assigned to duty at Naval Communication Area Master Station, Eastern Pacific - Honolulu, Hawaii. She received the Good Conduct Award - Fidelity-Zeal-Obedience January, 1979 and Honorable Discharge on March 22, 1979 as a Petty Officer 2nd Class. Becky was so proud to be a Veteran and to have proudly served her Country. She loved marching on Memorial and Veteran's Days in her home town - wearing her Navy uniform of so many years prior. She stood straight and tall in her 6 foot frame proudly representing the United States Navy.

Becky was married to Paul T. Minickiello, her childhood sweetheart and neighbor, on March 18, 1977 at Schofield Barracks at the Kolekole Chapel in Oahu, Hawaii. Upon her discharge from the Navy, they returned to Brighton, Massachusetts and then to Goffstown. New Hampshire. In 1990 they returned to Plymouth, New Hampshire and settled in Paul's family home.

June 2, 1985 Becky graduated from the University of New Hampshire - Cum Laude with a Bachelor of General Studies Degree. She pursued her career of being a wonderful homemaker and took great pride in her home, gardens and family.

Becky loved her family first. She had a special closeness, and was caregiver to her Mother until this last May - even while courageously fighting her own health battle. She loved, taught and enjoyed her nieces and nephews - like an Auntie Mame or Mary Poppins. She loved being the "favorite Auntie" - always doing and taking them to fun places and leaving them with beautiful and fond memories, which they will share with their own families someday. Becky taught them how to have fun learning about their family history, their town and nature. She showed them that grow-ups really can be fun to be with, and that they are also good listeners. She was best at playing "dress-up" with the kids, acting silly and decorating for the holidays.

She was the family "Communicator"! She was the glue that held her family, friends and classmates together. She was like her Aunt Pauline, who always kept in touch with everyone to let them know when something happy or sad was happening.

She and her mother excelled at Tole Painting with acrylics, taught by Carol Elliott of Plymouth. She loved gardening and sharing her perennials with the neighbors and family. She took great pleasure in swimming at the Mid-State Pool. She had a passionate love of boating and swimming at Squam and Newfound 13 Lakes.

She was a long time member of the Squam Trail Busters Snowmobile Club, the Plymouth Historical Society and the Plymouth Zoning Board.

Family members include her five siblings – Catherine D. Wilchman and husband, Paul of Cleveland/Russellville, Arkansas; Barbara D. Dutile and husband, Doug of Haverhill, NH; William R. Dunn of Holderness, NH; Tamara D. McHugh and husband, John of Bridgewater, NH; and Grace D. Janwich and husband, Ray of Keyport, New Jersey; Ten nieces and nephews - Rob, Suzi, Mike, Angie, Billy, Alesa, Melinda, John, Brad and Erin; Nine Grand Nieces and Nephews – Catherine, Anna, Jordan, Kaylie, Wyatt, Maia, Brady, Lucas and Nicolas. She leaves her former husband of 37 years, Paul T. Minickiello of Plymouth, NH and her significant other, Todd Lambert of Bridgewa-She was predeter, NH. ceased by her parents.

Don't Get Stung Mowing Old Fields This Summer!

If you are tired of getting stung while trying to keep old fields open this summer, join us and instead mow in late-Fall after the bees are done buzzing around!

In an effort to help pollinators, the Conservation Districts need willing landowners who are mowing old fields full of goldenrod and other wildflowers to simply mow mid to late October after most flowers are done blooming and pollinators have slowed down. There has been a lot of focus on grassland birds, which need lush grassy hayfields typically larger than 10 acres. But.... many fields in NH are small and full of flowers (not grassy) and if they are mowed later this can help wild bumblebees, the farms and gardens in your neighborhood, and your local bee keeper. We would be happy to help you understand your old field and what management makes the most sense for the greatest number of species.

Better yet, your change in management will help us reach our goal of 250 acres.

If you or someone you know would like to participate please contact Pam Gilbert, Grafton County Conservation District, by phone (603) 353-4652 or by email: pamela.gilbert@nh.nacdnet.

What About Ma?

by Kellie Quackenbush

The Ambulance Bill

About a month ago, a family member had a fall, it was alarming. 911 was called, the emergency medical people came and so did an ambulance. When someone falls, the first instinct is to get them up but that is not correct. Seeing a person on the floor after they have fallen, you see hints of what could be major injuries--legs at odd angles, cuts, bleeding and head injuries.

Leaning on the side of caution, the injured person was taken to the emergencv room via ambulance and had the appropriate testing and x-rays. What a relief to find there were no broken bones or fractures. So here we are weeks later and the bill for the ambulance service arrives.

A ride to the hospital cost $945.50. According to "Medicare & You, 2017"--the patient is responsible for 20% of this cost (if it is approved)plus any deductible. If Medicare does not approve the charge, the patient is responsible for 100% of the charge. Thank goodness we were in the United States when this accident happened. Medicare will not pay for any health care services given while you are traveling outside of the United States(limited exceptions exist).

recent article in Α Bloomberg by Suzanne Woolley states "A retiring couple at age 65 would need $275,000.00 to cover healthcare costs though retirement years." This includes what you pay for your Medicare premium each year, copays and medications. A cautionarv note for those still saving for retirement.

Looking at the ambulance bill, if it is not considered a "Medical Necessity", Medicare will not pay for it. Charges that are not approved by Medicare may also get denied by secondary insurers or "co-insurance". The patient is left being responsible for the bill.

We are still working on the "paperwork" which takes time. It seems like more time than the actual injury and treatment took. This event is just one more thing we face as we age.

The Ticks are Coming!

A common misconception is that ticks are a summertime pest. In reality, they are most active and likely to get on humans and pets in the spring and fall. They prefer cool nights and warm days. Please check in with your veterinarian to be sure your pet is fully up to date on their tick protection as September approaches. Options for tick prevention are oral pills, topical products (liquid drops or collars) and obviously diligent daily tick checks. Ticks are known by many to spread lyme disease, but less known diseases are ehrlichiosis, anaplasmosis, tularemia and Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever. There is a new tick threat approaching NH and VT now, the Lone Star Tick. The Lone Star Tick has also been implicated in triggering beef allergies in humans.

Lone star tick facts

- According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, lone star ticks can be found in at least 30 U.S. states, usually in areas with shaded, low-lying vegetation. Their distribution continues to widen across the country.
- Its name comes from the distinctive "lone star" white marking on the female's back.
- The lone star tick is an aggressive biter that latches onto deer, birds, dogs, and humans alike. Adult females gorge on host blood for seven to 10 days, during which time they can quadruple in

- Females can lay up to 3,000 eggs at a time.
- Lone star ticks are responsible for more bites to humans in the southern U.S. than any other species. Their large mouthparts cause a particularly irritating
- Because the lone star tick does not transmit Lyme disease, people once considered the parasite to be more of a nuisance than a threat to human and animal health. However, this tick can spread a handful of other serious zoonotic illnesses to their hosts.
- Lone star ticks have been implicated in causing tick paralysis and Southern tick-associated rash illness, and they can transmit the pathogens that cause erlichiosis. tularemia, and Rocky Mountain spotted fever.

NVRH Receives Tobacco Funding; Enters Year Two of the Regional Prevention Partnerships Grant

St. Johnsbury. Northeastern Vermont Regional Hospital has received a noncompetitive tobacco grant for $35,000 from the State of Vermont, Department of Health, Division of Health Promotion and Disease Prevention. The purpose of the grant is to implement community-based chronic disease prevention strategies related to tobacco use and prevention; specifically those aligned with the Alcohol and Drug Abuse Prevention (ADAP) Regional Prevention Partnership (RPP) model. The work conducted under this grant will contribute to the Vermont Tobacco Control State Plan goals, Healthy Vermonter 2020 Goals for Tobacco Prevention and Control and reducing health disparities among Vermont's most vulnerable populations.

In May of 2016, NVRH was awarded $153,709 for year one of the RPP grant and $130,000 thereafter for an additional four years. The RPP Initiative is the result of a cooperative agreement with the US Department of Health and Human Services. Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA). RPP aims to reduce adolescent and young adult substance abuse while increasing the capacity of the state and local communities to provide prevention services over a five-year period (2015-2020). The Regional Prevention Partnership aims to reduce underage and binge drinking (ages 12-20), reduce prescription drug misuse/abuse (ages 12-25), and reduce marijuana consumption (ages 12-25).

The tobacco grant will be administered in conjunction with the RPP. Cheryl Chandler, RPP Coordinator, is pleased to announce that Tennyson Marceau, Prevention Specialist, has been hired to carry out the goals and objectives of the tobacco grant. In addition, Tennyson will assist with the RPP. Both grants are a collaboration with the St. Johnsbury District Office of the Vermont Department of Health, St. Johnsbury District Office to convene community partners and implement a regional strategic plan comprised of evidence-based prevention strategies to reduce adolescent and young adult substance abuse.

NVRH Prevention Services is located in the same building as the Kingdom Recovery Center (Dr. Bob's House) at 297 Summer Street in St. Johnsbury. Staff includes Cheryl Chandler, RPP Prevention Coordinator (c.chandler@nvrh.org); Tennyson Marceau, Prevention Specialist

Tri-County Community Action Program, Tri-County Transit welcomes new Transit Division Director and Operations Manager

Tri-County Community Action Program, Inc (TC-CAP) and the Tri-County Transit division are proud to introduce the appointment of Brenda Gagne, as the new Director of Transportation and Jeanene McDonald as the Operations Manager of Transportation.

A division of TCCAP, Tri-County Transit is a public transportation organization in northern New Hampshire that operates in Coos, Carroll and Northern Grafton Counties. We provide elder, disabled, low income and general public transportation as Transportation services, Senior Wheels, Freedom Express, Medicaid Tri-Town Flex Route, Berlin/Gorham Flex Route, and the Long Distance Medical Non-Emergency Transportation. Tri-County Transit is most visible as the blue buses making the rounds which provide essential transportation services. Last year we provided over 49,480 total trips for the residents of Carroll, Coös, and Grafton Counties.

Mrs. Gagne was the Transit Operations Manager for over thirteen years, when her predecessor, Beverly Raymond resigned her position after 30 years to enjoy her family. "Beverly has a wealth of knowledge and connections to the community, and is admired by her peers locally as well as at the state level in New Hampshire," says her successor Brenda Gagne, the new Division Director of Tri-County Transit.

Mrs. Gagne looked forward without missing a beat and focused on the coordinated services that need to come from seamless transportation options for users from one end of the state of New Hampshire to the other. "This requires the participation of services with other community partners and other service providers and continues to be our greatest challenge" explained, Mrs. Gagne. "You can find Seniors, low-income, Medicaid, and the General Public on the buses at any time." Transit serves and travels over 4,455 square miles.

Mrs. Gagnes new right hand is now Jeanene Mc-Donald who is the Operations Manager of Transportation, who was promoted within Tri-County Transit where she has spent the last two years as a Transportation Dispatcher. From Pittsburg to Wolfeboro, or Lyman to Twin Mountain, Ms. Mc-Donald knows the day to day operations and manages the 35 Transportation Drivers, 20 busses, and 19 Volunteer Drivers, Monday through Friday from seven am until six pm. Ms. McDonald stresses that "Anybody can ride, with just one phone call (603)

752-1741, from any location to any other location, we will help pick you up and get you where you need to go."

"We are happy to have these two talented individuals moving into new leadership positions in the Transportation and CAP team. Their education, passion, and enthusiasm for transportation is a great benefit to our community services," says Jeanne Robillard, TC-CAP COO. "Living in rural Northern New Hampshire, transportation services have a great impact on meeting the work, and medical needs of our most vulnerable members of the community."

"It was a natural choice to promote from within in these two cases given the strong background and experience that both Mrs. Gagne and Ms. McDonald possess. They understand the operations of the business and the unique needs of our clients and demographics in the North Country. They are the correct individuals to keep transportation on its proper course and help move further in the right direction for the future." said Robert G. Boschen Jr., TCCAP CEO.

A Hooker in the Family "It's not what you think"

by Elinor Mawson

The annual cleaning of the town water tank took place early Monday morning. It is a necessary ritual, performed around the Fourth of July since the town's well was first drilled.

The cast and crew are much like other groups of volunteers; a reliable core that serves to anchor the rest of those who drag themselves up to the drive next to the cemetery, roll up their sleeves or their pant legs and spend an hour making sure the villagers have the same freezing cold, sweet water they've come to expect each time they turn on their taps.

The list of volunteers has always been in flux but lately the changing of the guard is more pronounced. Several have left the village and taken up permanent residency in the cemetery, presumably to oversee the efforts of those left behind. There have been strokes and surgeries, bad knees, weak hearts and missing lungs to shorten the list.

Somehow in spite of everything there are always just enough bodies to scoop sediment, set the traps in the front room, sweep and vac the walls, ceiling, and crevices of lurking dust and spiders, turn the pump back on and pour the necessary amount of chlorine in before the chart is filled in, the lights turned off and the outer door is locked again.

This year we were lucky, two of the through hikers on the AT volunteered to help. they weren't planning to hit the trail until 9 or 10 anyway and they were told we would surely be finished before then so they jumped aboard. Interesting guys, their trail names traditionally sen at the start of the long journey, were Sprout and Whiskers. These guys told us they were happy to help, glad of the chance to offer some payback for all the folks they'd met along the trail who were so generous and so helpful to them.

When the job was done and the pump was humming we wished them safe travels, offered hearty thanks for their efforts on our behalf then went back inside and added their names to the list of the important details of the day.

Now every time I turn on the tap and am rewarded with that icy sweet refreshment I'll picture Sprout and Whiskers high in the mountains headed for Maine.

Happy trails guys.

Italian Meatball Subs

Hello hello my fellow chefs! Todays recipe is for Italian meatball subs. Mangia mangia which means eat, eat. I hope you like this recipe, it's one of my favorites.

1 Package of Italian Rolls

1 can or jar 24 oz. pasta sauce (I used Hunts 4 cheese Italian flavor in can)

- 1 lb. ground hamburg
- 1 large egg (lightly scramble)

1 cup Italian seasoned bread crumbs

1/3 cup 3 cheese shredded Italian cheese (found in refrigerated assorted cheese section)

1/2 tsp. salt

1/2 tsp. black pepper

- 1 tsp. garlic powder
- 1/2 tsp. garlic salt

1 tsp. minced garlic (I used garlic in jar from dollar

1 tsp.basil (I used dry) 1/2 tsp. oregano (I used dry)

1/4 cup pasta sauce from the jar or can you chose

1/4 cup water Heat oven to 325 degrees.

Place ground beef in large bowl and make well in center. Add to well the lightly scrambled egg, breadcrumbs, shredded 3cheese, salt, pepper, garlic powder, garlic salt, basil, oregano, 1/4 cup pasta sauce, and water

Mix well, but gently. Don't squeeze to mix. When you squeeze to mix the meatballs come out hard, but mixing gently and thoroughly will allow meatballs to have a softer texture. After mixed, roll into good size meatballs. I got 12 meatballs to give you an idea of how big to make. Place each meatball, not touching, on a greased cookie sheet, you

Spoon some sauce over all tra cheese on top. You can also sprinkle mozzarella and bake for 5 minutes to heat can use spray oil or regular oil. If using oil, brush all over bottom. Bake in preheated oven on top shelf for 25 to 30 minutes, this allows a little brown color and excess fat to drain. Make sure they don't burn on bottom. Heat the rest of the pasta sauce in large fry pan over low heat. When meatballs are out of oven use a spatula to remove gently and place in hot pasta sauce in frying pan. so meatballs are covered. Simmer for about 30 to 35 minutes and put cover on frying pan to finish cooking. Last 5 minutes take cover off to thicken a bit and allow aroma to fill your home. Check to make sure meatballs are not sticking in frying pan. Using your favorite rolls put meatballs in and sprinkle ex-roll and melt cheese on top. Serve with salad and en-

I discovered an inexpensive red wine that goes well with this. It's called Paisano by Carlo Rossi. It comes in

1/2 gallon or full gallon. I pour the wine in a carafe so no one sees you pouring out of a gallon. That makes it look like a special wine. It's flavor is like a Cabernet, and always drink responsibly.
